COOL RUN-INS AT ECO BIRTHDAY BASH

Celebrities celebrated the tenth birthday of eco charity Cool Earth at hip London restaurant SushiSamba. Daisy Lowe and Leah Wood, both ambassadors of the initiative – set up to protect rainforests – embraced the green theme by wearing the colour. DJ Alexandra Richards flew in from New York to hit the decks as guests, including Leah's businesswoman mum Jo, ex-Strictly Come Dancing judge Arlene Phillips and design icon Dame Vivienne Westwood, enjoyed gin cocktails.

GROWING FUNDS FOR LADY GARDEN

Stars got their skates on for an exclusive preview of the film I, Tonya, organised by the Lady Garden campaign, at London's Soho Hotel. Society star Chloe Delevingne and actress Mika Simmons, two of the co-founders of the initiative, set up in aid of the Gynaecological Cancer Fund, hosted the special screening. Guests included HELLO! editor in chief Rosie Nixon, former Spice Girl Melanie Chisholm, ex-All Saints singer Nicole Appleton and actresses Tina Hobley and Clara Paget.

WENDY'S FAN CLUB RING IN NEW YEAR

Society businesswoman Wendy Yu rang in the Chinese New Year with a star-studded party at London's Kensington Palace, with guests including Samantha Cameron, wife of ex-Prime Minister David, and models Eva Herzigova and Erin O'Connor. Party-goers at the night, which also saw the launch of investment company Yu Holdings, enjoyed champagne and lychee martinis accompanied by a Chinese quartet and dancing dragons before a three-course meal.

STARS MEET FOR FACE TIME

Skincare specialist Teresa Tarmey teamed up with Cîroc Vodka for a party to launch an at-home alternative to her signature facial. Sienna Miller hosted the glittering launch, welcoming famous – and perfectly pampered – faces, including Poppy Delevingne, actress Annabelle Wallis and Lady Mary Charteris, who took care of DJ duties. “Teresa’s treatments are second to none,” said Sienna. “Her care and extensive knowledge in skincare make it a truly unique experience.”
